

5. INDUSTRIE- KLETTER-CUP in Leipzig

Open German championship
in industrial rope access

13 March 2010 · Climbing Arena NO LIMIT

Invitation to the Industrial Rope Access Cup 2010 in Leipzig

17 December 2009

The 5th open German championship in industrial rope access will take place next year in Leipzig for the first time. Following the cups in Garmisch-Partenkirchen and Berlin, it will be hosted in 2010 where the rope-assisted access and positioning technique was practically invented. Since scaffolding was rarely available in the GDR, inventive sports climbers had the idea of using alpine rope techniques to assist in the renovation of run-down buildings. This was the beginning of the development of rope-assisted access and positioning techniques which FISAT has been promoting ever since the fall of the Wall.

As far as the parallel competition courses are concerned, we can provide at least this hint. The Saxons are well known for placing less emphasis on speed than above all on skill and precision! So for any movements on the ropes not in conformity with the rules, because for example not redundantly (doubly) secured, and for any tasks not fully completed there will be penalty points.

A broad accompanying program will ensure great entertainment for both children and adults.
The party begins at 6:00 pm.
